38. Realistically faces the expectation of the community to support a quality education for all its children.
39. Resists the efforts of special-interest groups to influence the instructional program if the effect would be detrimental to the students.

40. Encourage the participation of the professional staff and, in certain instances, the public in the development of the curricula.
41. Weighs all decisions in terms of what is best for the students.
42. Provides a policy outlining the district's vision, mission, and expected outcomes against which the instructional program can be evaluated.
43. Keeps abreast of new developments in teaching and learning through attendance and participation in school board association conferences and meeting of other educational groups and by reading selected books and periodicals.

RELATIONSHIP TO FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT OF THE SCHOOLS

44. Equates the income and expenditure of the district in terms of the quality of education that should be provided and the ability of the community to support such a program.
45. Takes the leadership in suggesting and securing community support for additional financing when necessary.
46. Establishes written policies which will insure efficient administration of purchasing, accounting, and payroll procedures and an insurance program.
47. Authorizes individual budgetary allotments and special non-budgeted expenditures only after considering the total needs of the district.
48. Makes provision for long-range planning, acquisition of sites, additional facilities, and plant maintenance.

PERSONAL QUALITIES

49. A sincere and unselfish interest in public education and in the contribution it makes to the development of children.
50. A knowledge of the community, which the school system serves.
51. An ability to think independently, to grow in understanding, to rely on fact rather than prejudice, and to exhibit a sincere willingness to hear and consider all sides of a controversial question.
52. A deep sense of loyalty to other board members and respect for group decisions cooperatively reached.
53. A respect for and interest in people and ability to get along with them.

54. A desire to work through defined channels to authority and responsibility.
55. A willingness to devote the necessary time to become an effective board member.
